

Brezhnev warns of 'more terrible' weapons

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev raised the possibility Friday of a new generation of destructive arms and urged a big power ban on the development of "even more terrible weapons than nuclear ones."

The Communist Party chief did not specify what kind of weaponry he had in mind but said modern technology has the power to create new systems of mass destruction which are not yet covered in any international arms control pact.

He specifically proposed that the United States join the Soviet Union in spearheading an international agreement on this issue.

The Soviet Union and the U.S., the first countries to develop atomic bombs, have signed various accords to limit the proliferation, testing and development of nuclear weapons. They have also agreed to an international ban on environmental warfare. They are currently negotiating a limitation on missiles armed with multiple nuclear warheads.

In Washington, sources said the only weapons they know are being researched are laser, development of which is still 10 years away.

In a nationally televised speech accepting nomination to the Russian federation parliament, Brezhnev pointed to limited progress so far in controlling the arms race and added:

"I would like to stress the significance of one important question. It has not yet been reflected in agreements between states, which, in our belief becomes more and more timely and more acute, and cannot be shunted aside."

"The matter concerns the fact that countries, especially large countries, sign an agreement to prohibit the creation of new types of weapons of mass destruction, new systems of such weaponry. The level of our modern science and technology is such that it appears there is a serious danger of creating even more terrible weapons than nuclear ones."

"The wisdom and conscience of humanity dictate that we set an insurmountable barrier to the appearance of such weaponry," Brezhnev said.

The 68-year-old Soviet leader did not propose how to initiate such an agreement or give a timetable for its realization. He said only, "The Soviet Union and United States of America, acting in the same direction, could, in our opinion, make no small contribution."

The U.S. and the Soviet Union possess nuclear and hydrogen bombs capable of killing more than twice the population of the human race, so it is unclear what new destructive plateaus could be reached beyond improving delivery systems.

There have been proposals for launching nuclear fragmentary bombs from space, but there is no evidence to suggest they have left the drawing board stage.

Brezhnev indicated that in the immediate future he hopes to sign an agreement on offensive nuclear missiles when he and President Ford meet in the U.S. later this year.

He suggested that talks in Vienna on troop and weapons reductions in Central Europe are not going well, and accused the North Atlantic Treaty Organization of using the talks to strengthen its military position.

Brezhnev spoke to a capacity crowd of 6,000 workers and officials at the Kremlin's Palace of Congresses. Despite new rumors that he may be ailing, the party chief appeared fit as he spoke for 55 minutes.

Brown hits UC mansions

UC president and the vice president came amid two major personnel changes on the regent board.

One change added a student regent to the board for the first time. Carol Mock, 22, a political science senior at UC Santa Barbara, was appointed for a one-year term during which she plans graduate work at UC Berkeley.

The other change featured UC President Charles Hitch, retiring June 30, in his final meeting of the regents, who met in their regular sessions Thursday and Friday at the Los Angeles Convention Center.

Miss Mock, whose selection among three final student candidates was unanimous according to the regents, also became the youngest regent in the board's 107-year history, officials said. Although silent during the rest of the meeting after she took her chair amid applause from other regents, she told reporters later that she thinks a major value of a voting student regent is "having a student on the board and not just speaking to or at the board."

Hitch, for his part, noted that during his tenure UC had gone from the student demonstrations of the mid-60's to a student regent in the mid-70's. He said he hoped the violent years had "come to an end."

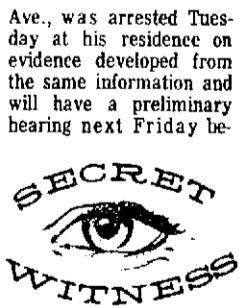

The only controversy came when the governor raised the subject of the mansions, which before he arrived late had sailed past regents without comment or disagreement.

And although a half-hour debate ensued, the regents didn't take back the vote to pay $260,000-a-year operating expenses out of their own funds for the 11 mansions.

"These mansions are a relic of the past, a symbol of aristocracy which is inconsistent with a democratic society," the governor said.

A Secret Witness tip has led to the arrest of two suspects in the murder of James D. Johnson, 26, victim of two shotgun blasts last October at a restroom on the beach below Eighth Place, police reported Friday.

Paul M. Lively, 19, was arrested Thursday night in Ketchikan, Alaska, under a Long Beach murder warrant issued as a result of the Independent Press-Telegram Secret Witness tip, said Detective Sgt. J.J. Hurlburt.

Hurlburt, head of the homicide squad, also announced that an alleged accomplice, Randell W. Campbell, 18, 1053 Pine Ave., was arrested Tuesday at his residence on evidence developed from the same information and will have a preliminary hearing next Friday before Municipal Court Judge Charles S. Litwin.

The two are charged with the Oct. 7, 1974, murder of Johnson, who died in St. Mary Medical Center about 2 a.m., while awaiting emergency surgery for two short-range shotgun blasts in his right chest.

Both were arrested under warrants issued by Judge Litwin as a result of the Secret Witness information and are being held under $50,000 bail each, Hurlburt said.

He said three officers of the homicide detail, William M. Dunyon, Ron E. Nelson and Don C. Blachowski, worked around the clock developing additional evidence after the tip was received.

If murder convictions result from the tip, the Secret Witness will qualify for a $2,000 reward.

Summer jobless pay killed

Calif. teachers 'lose' $117 million

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California teachers could have collected as much as $117 million if they had stayed eligible for unemployment insurance, a state official said Friday.

A provision of a $15-billion Social Security and veterans' bill signed by President Ford Friday closed the loophole which had made full-time teachers eligible for unemployment during summer vacation.

Teachers without contracts for next fall remain eligible.

The matter involved a federally financed special unemployment assistance program which gives benefits to roughly 12-million state and local government employees, household workers and farmworkers whose jobs had not been covered by such laws until Congress first moved into this area last December.

Several states indicated they could find no provision in their own laws by which they could deny benefits during the time between academic terms.

In Washington, President Ford's signature on the supplemental money bill also freed GI education checks Friday for 219,279 veterans. The checks had been held up by a Senate-House fight.

It also allowed the Treasury to send out delayed $50 bonus checks to 34 million persons on the Social Security and railroad retirement rolls.

Veterans Administrator Richard L. Roudabush said the VA already has processed the payments for the 219,279 and the Treasury has assured the VA it will try to get the checks in the mail as soon as possible.

The Treasury said it also will get in the mail quickly the $50 bonus checks which Congress voted as part of the tax-cut law earlier this year to make sure nearly everybody got a tax rebate or some government payment this year.

The $15 billion supplemental appropriation which the White House announced Ford has signed was held up by a three-week fight between the Senate and House over how much to spend for rehabilitating railway roadbeds and other facilities.

This was settled Wednesday when the Senate dropped its insistence on $700 million and accepted the $5 million voted by the House only for planning railroad aid.

The appropriation is the final catch-all supplemental bill for the fiscal year, which ends June 30. It contains funds for a dozen federal agencies.

Ike, Kennedy, LBJ 'clear' of death plots

By NICHOLAS HORROCK
New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — Sen. Frank Church, chairman of the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, said Friday that his committee had no evidence linking former presidents to plots by the Central Intelligence Agency to assassinate leaders of foreign governments.

In answer to questions from reporters after a closed hearing, Church said: "I would have to say that at this time the committee has no evidence that would directly link CIA involvement in this kind of activity with presidents of the United States during this period under investigation."

He said that the period of investigation covered the administrations of Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy and the early portion of President Lyndon B. Johnson's administration. The fact that there was an investigation of possible plots of assassinations during the Johnson years had not been directly mentioned before.

During his news conference last Monday, President Ford told reporters that he had read material collected on the subject of assassinations "going back to late 1959 and running up through 1967 or 1968."

Meanwhile, members of a House Select Committee also investigating the CIA said they were told sketchy details of the CIA's involvement in the assassination of the late Gen. Rafael Trujillo Molina, dictator of the Dominican Republic.

Rep. Ronald V. Dellums, D-Calif., told the Associated Press that Trujillo's killing "could be traced to actions that were taken by the CIA." Dellums is a member of the House committee.

A dispatch of The New York Times Thursday quoted authoritative government sources as saying that the CIA gave "material support" to a group of indigenous Dominicans who killed Trujillo.

These sources said that the CIA's involvement in this successful assassination had been reported to Ford and the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence. It was also one of the incidents referred to by Rep. James V. Stanton, D-Ohio, who is chairman of a House subcommittee investigating the CIA.

New peace shuttle?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin decided late Friday to extend their Middle East peace talks into the weekend, heightening prospects for an early resumption of shuttle diplomacy.

Rabin flew to New York, where he will be joined Sunday by Kissinger. "One has to be always hopeful," Rabin said as he left Blair House after a 45-minute session with the secretary of state.

Kissinger told a handful of newsmen that this was now "a relaxed time" in the Middle East negotiating process. His optimism comes with a pickup of momentum that sources said is likely to return him to the Middle East next month if differences between Israel and Egypt can be narrowed further.

Rabin had planned to stop in New York to attend a dinner Saturday night given by American Jewish organizations and to appear on CBS's "Face the Nation" on Sunday.

At a dinner given Thursday night by Israeli ambassador Simcha Dinitz, Kissinger said the period of diplomatic stalemate "is drawing to a close."

He told Rabin: "We could not live with ourselves if we had impaired the well-being and security of Israel."

Rabin, evidently reassured during his summit sessions with President Ford, remarked: "I am glad that there is no need for Israel to do something which does not go along with the interests of the United States."

The prime minister also referred to continuing technical differences with the administration, "When we think that something serves our interest we do it even if it is not always liked by some people here," he said.

Sources said a final decision by Ford on another Kissinger mediation awaits post-summit deliberations in Jerusalem and Cairo.

Kissinger is said to be reluctant to board the shuttle again unless he is 90 per cent certain it would produce an agreement. His last effort collapsed three months ago.

Ford expects to know within the next two weeks whether terms for Israeli withdrawal in Sinai can be arranged.

A key factor is the visit here next Friday of Foreign Minister Abd Halim Khaddam of Syria. Egypt and Syria are pressing for a prompt withdrawal of Israeli forces on the Golan Heights, but Israel doubts that a deal can be struck with Damascus.

Meanwhile, the Arab League said that a Sinai withdrawal must be accompanied by "corresponding movement on all fronts."

Spokesman Clovis Maksoud said the Arabs would abandon their "self-restraint" if Israel did not agree to a timetable of withdrawal from all territory occupied during the 1967 war.

"This timetable cannot be measured in years, however few, but best in months, and not to exceed the end of the year," Maksoud said.

Twisters, hail hit Oklahoma

United Press International

Tornadoes and golf ball-size hail hit Stillwater, Okla., Friday evening, injuring several persons and causing widespread damage in the downtown area and on the campus of Oklahoma State University.

The twisters downed power lines, damaged businesses and ignited at least one fire, authorities said. A tower at the city fire station was reportedly knocked down by high winds. The hail broke windshields on several automobiles.

Funnel clouds flirted with the Dubuque County area in northeastern Iowa, but no damage was reported.

Severe thunderstorms, some packing tornadoes, spread across the Midwest and scattered rainstorms stretched all the way to the East Coast.

At New Bedford, Mass., a twin-engine Air New England plane with 26 persons aboard attempted to land in rain and fog and overshot the runway, injuring five persons.

Two tornadoes were reported in northwest Minnesota. One damaged two garages and injured a man in the little town of Bejou.

Hail three quarters of an inch in diameter pelted an area south of Enid, Okla., golf ball-size hail was reported 40 miles northwest of Waterloo, Iowa.

Severe thunderstorm watches were posted for eastern Iowa, extreme southwestern Wisconsin and northern Illinois in advance of the storm system. A tornado warning was issued in south central Wisconsin.

Thunderstorm activity also increased in the upper Great Lakes region, along the Gulf Coast and in Kentucky. In Philadelphia, the rain-plagued Philadelphia IVB Golf Classic was postponed for a second day because of flooding at the suburban Whitemarsh Valley Country Club.

U.S. beefing up food stamp rules

Combined News Services

WASHINGTON — The Agriculture Department is working on a new special food stamp menu which sources said Friday might help meet a court order directing the government to put more bounce in poor people's diets. "It's one possible option among some others," one official said. "But it seems to be in line with what the court is talking about." The U.S. Court of Appeals ruled Thursday that the present formula for setting food stamp allowances to 19.6 million Americans did not provide nutritionally adequate diets for all. For years, USDA has used an "economy" level diet as the basis for determining how many food stamps needy families get per month. The economy plan is the skimpiest of four food budgets designed by the department to accommodate different income groups. Recipients in the program, which will cost $5 billion for the fiscal year ending June 30, are expected to level off in 1975-76 at around 21 million persons.

Court output steady

WASHINGTON — Supreme Court opinions are coming out at about the same rate as last session despite the absence of Justice William O. Douglas, although his own output is down by about two-thirds, sources said Friday. One Court source in a position to know described as "a lot of damned nonsense" reports that Douglas' illness is preventing his colleagues from winding up the term's business on schedule at the end of June. "He's up with his work," the source said. Nevertheless the 76-year-old Douglas has written only one majority opinion since he suffered a stroke last New Year's Day and that was in a case heard in 1974. He has spoken for the court only six times this term, compared to 14 times last term and 16 the year before. Thus, the other eight justices must take on some extra majority opinions.

Army bicentennial

The Army is celebrating its 200th birthday today with activities around the country including parades, pageants and a presidential visit. President Ford scheduled a trip to Ft. Benning, Ga., for a review of the troops, a 20-minute speech and a tour of the sprawling post which the Army calls the home of the infantry. The "birthday" marks the 200th anniversary of a vote by the Continental Congress to raise 10 companies of riflemen from Maryland, Pennsylvania and Virginia and enlist them until the end of the Revolutionary War. One day later, on June 15, 1775, the Continental Congress appointed George Washington as commander in chief of the Army.

Postal trucks curbed

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Postal Service Friday temporarily removed 11,797 of its red, white, and blue mail delivery vans from service because of a potentially dangerous steering defect. A spokesman said the vans — the familiar ones in which the driver sits on the right side so he can reach curbside mail boxes — were assigned to 1,500 post offices across the country, mostly in cities and suburbs. The 4,049 vehicles will be out of service for several weeks until postal mechanics get new factory parts to replace steering units that may be defective.

British inflation hits record 25%

LONDON — Britain's rate of inflation has jumped to a record 25 per cent annually, the highest in Europe. The announcement Friday on the retail price index represented another blow to the government of Prime Minister Harold Wilson, who is under increasing pressure to take some dramatic action to try to cure inflation. It also served to confirm the general feeling in Britain that Wilson's "social contract" with the trade unions for voluntary wage restraints has virtually collapsed. Between April and May, the cost of living rose 4.2 per cent, the largest monthly increase on record. The May figures showed an actual increase over the year of 5 per cent, largely because of higher prices arising from new taxes and other government measures as well as from big wage increases. The effect was to put Britain at the top of the inflation league in Europe. The latest figures show Italy's inflation was running at 20 per cent, Belgium 14, France 12.7 and West Germany 8.11.

Plea for support

NEW DELHI, India — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi took to the streets Friday to win support for her decision to remain in office while appealing her conviction for corrupt election practices. However, four non-Communist opposition parties paid no attention and declared they no longer recognize her as prime minister. In a half-dozen speeches outside her residence, the prime minister blamed the opposition parties for the country's problems and for being partly responsible for her being found guilty Thursday of winning her parliamentary seat in 1971 illegally.

Development funds

PARIS — Finance ministers of rich and poor countries decided Friday to set up a new lending facility of the World Bank that would make up to $1 billion of low-cost loans to developing countries in the next year. The U.S., however, declined to contribute. The action, representing one of the rare joint efforts by oil-producing and industrial countries to help poorer lands, was taken at a meeting here of the World Bank's 20-nation Development Committee, created eight months ago to transfer more resources to the developing countries. The World Bank is formally known as the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

Viets restore economy

TOKYO — South Vietnamese workers are restoring production since the fall of Saigon on April 30. Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency reported Saturday. Eighty percent of the textile factories in Saigon are back in production and daily output at one mill doubled in 40 days, VNA said in a broadcast monitored in Tokyo. It reported many home-spun textile looms also have resumed operation. Another Hanoi broadcast monitored in Bangkok said about eight million South Vietnamese out of a population of nearly 19 million were without jobs or doing "unproductive work."

HEW's Weinberger reported set to resign

Combined News Services

Caspar W. Weinberger, secretary of health, education and welfare, has told top aides he will resign later this summer, a Washington source said Friday.

There had been reports in recent months that Weinberger, 57, was considering resigning because of his wife Jane's health. She has arthritis.

"He is expected to return to California," the source said. "But his other plans are not set." Weinberger is from San Francisco.

In the past, Weinberger has been mentioned as a possible Republican gubernatorial contender in California.

Rep. Walter Flowers, D-Ala., said Friday in Washington he understood that University of Alabama President David Mathews would be nominated to be HEW secretary. Flowers said he had received White House confirmation of this.

However, Mathews, 36, has refused comment on the matter.

Weinberger was director of the Office of Management and Budget when he was nominated to the HEW post in November 1972 by former President Richard M. Nixon.

He was known as the premier budget-cutter in the Nixon administration and sometimes called "Cap the Knife." When he nominated Weinberger, Nixon called HEW "too fat, too bloated."

As HEW secretary, Weinberger tried to reduce his department's budget, which was $111 billion last year and accounted for more than one-third of the total federal budget.

However, he was frustrated by the fact that 94 per cent of HEW spending is uncontrollable. That is, the programs are locked into law and must be funded until Congress passes new legislation.

Forgiven

Former British War Minister John Profumo, whose political career was shattered by a spy and callgirl scandal 12 years ago, was formally forgiven today by Britain's Establishment when Queen Elizabeth II made him a Commander of the British Empire.

Actor Peter Ustinov and wartime singer Vera Lynn also received awards in the Honors List that marks the monarch's birthday. The list, honoring British and Commonwealth citizens, is drawn up by the queen on the recommendation of the prime minister and a special committee.

This year, 216 persons were cited — the famous and the obscure; captains of industry and oil rig roustabouts; show business stars and stage doormen; church leaders and missionary priests; military men and a handful of ordinary citizens.

Profumo was honored for his work helping London's poor, the task he set for himself after he quit former Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's cabinet in 1963.

He resigned because of his affair with high-class callgirl Christine Keeler. Other top people were named in the scandal that rocked the country.

British security linked Miss Keeler with Capt. Eugene Ivanov, a naval attaché and intelligence operative at the Soviet embassy in London, but investigations produced no evidence of security leaks.

Closed door

Auto heiress Anne Ford, the younger daughter of Henry Ford II, has obtained a divorce from Giacomo Uzielli, her husband of 10 years, the New York Post reported Friday.

According to the Post, the 31-year-old Miss Ford was granted the uncontested divorce last Feb. 5 in an unusual closed-chamber session before state Supreme Court referee Lloyd Paterno. Uncontested divorce hearings normally take place in open court.

Confidence

Fayette Mayor Charles Evers expressed confidence in Mississippi justice Friday in Jackson and noted that his trial on income-tax evasion charges came just 12 years from the day that his brother, Medgar, was killed by a sniper's bullet.

Medgar, a civil rights leader, was shot outside his Jackson home as he returned from a meeting. Charles was in Chicago at the time, but returned to Mississippi to continue his brother's work and went on to become the first black mayor of a biracial Mississippi town.

"I think there's just that much difference in our state now. Twelve years ago I couldn't get a trial no kind of way in Mississippi. Now I wouldn't go nowhere else for a trial," Evers said.

Horror

Komsomolskaya Pravda, the newspaper of the Communist Youth League, Friday criticized American pop singer Alice Cooper, and said, "His singing makes the blood run cold."

The newspaper said: "He was an ordinary singer before he found his way to glory using the fashion for horrors. Dressing in devil's attire or in a shroud, floods of artificial blood and bad language are inseparable parts of his act."

"He describes himself as a benefactor of humanity for satisfying the demand for horrors. What is true is the horror business has made him a millionaire."

Son hanged self

Mom wins jail-suicide suit

The mother of a teenage boy who committed suicide in jail nearly four years ago has been awarded a $40,500 judgment against the City of Long Beach by a Superior Court jury.

The award, made Thursday to Mrs. Helen L. Lucas, was made by jurors who said they felt police negligence was involved in the Aug. 20, 1971, death of Stephen W. Lucas Jr.

The Lucas boy, 17, had been arrested shortly after midnight on that date, apparently under the influence of a drug, according to police reports.

Placed in a cell in the police station's fourth-floor juvenile division, Lucas tore a strip from a mattress pad and hanged himself a few hours later.

The jury had deliberated for more than four days after hearing a week's testimony in the court of Judge Ernest Kelly.

On request of deputy city attorneys handling the case, jurors returned a "special verdict," hinting he seemed unable to protect his own welfare.

Police reports said the youth cried, asking to be taken home and protesting that his mother had "a nervous condition," that if she learned he had been jailed she "might commit suicide or have a nervous breakdown."

Officers reported that Lucas was given a breath-analyzed test and registered a 0.1—far too low to be inebriated. A narcotics officer examined the youth and judged he was under the influence of a drug.

The officers had been dispatched to the area on a call that two men were beating a third, pounding his head against a fire hydrant.

The arresting officers said the youth acknowledged that he had been in a fight "over a girl."

Police said Lucas had an abrasion on his chin, but refused medical treatment. He was jailed, and less than three hours later was found dead in his cell.

In her suit, filed three years ago, Mrs. Lucas had asked for damages of a half-million dollars.

Saboteurs hit SS Catalina

By KRIS SHERMAN
Staff Writer

Sand was dumped into the main bearings and a main electrical line was damaged on the SS Catalina, the famed Great White Steamer which plies the waters between San Pedro and Santa Catalina Island, officials said Friday.

Harbor Division officers turned the matter over to the Los Angeles Police Department's Criminal Conspiracy Division for investigation of possible sabotage after it was learned that switchboard operators at the Catalina Terminal in San Pedro reported having received a bomb threat against the ship Wednesday night.

SHIP'S engineer Raymond Burnham told Harbor Division police that someone apparently broke into the vessel's engine room, put sand in all the bearings and smashed the electric cables with a hammer.

Burnham told police he discovered the damage when he reported for work Thursday morning.

Just a few hours earlier, at about 11:45 p.m. Wednesday, switchboard operators in the terminal at Berth 95 told police they received the bomb threat from a man who said he represented the Army of Cambodia.

Stan Megargee, director of public relations for MGRS Inc., which operates the 2,200-passenger vessel, said, however, that he thought the damage could be attributed either to "malicious mischief" or "an accident."

"We've been having a lot of work done on the ship, readying her to begin the cruise season," Megargee said. "With all those workmen aboard and all the hustle and bustle getting the ship ready to sail, an accident could have easily happened," he added.

"MEGARTEE" said the sand, which damaged all four of the ship's engine bearings, is kept on hand in the engine room to put out oil fires should they occur.

He said the damage cost

When he failed a field sobriety test, the officers said they took him into custody because he seemed unable to protect his own welfare.

Police reports said the youth cried, asking to be taken home and protesting that his mother had "a nervous condition," that if she learned he had been jailed she "might commit suicide or have a nervous breakdown."

Officers reported that Lucas was given a breath-analyzed test and registered a 0.1—far too low to be inebriated. A narcotics officer examined the youth and judged he was under the influence of a drug.

According to police reports at the time of the incident, Lucas was picked up by two officers who found him staggering across the street in the 2200 block of Pine Avenue.

The officers had been dispatched to the area on a call that two men were beating a third, pounding his head against a fire hydrant.

In her suit, filed three years ago, Mrs. Lucas had asked for damages of a half-million dollars.

Two years ago I gave birth to my son in Tijuana, Mexico so that my husband and I can purchase property there under our son's name when we retire. We would like to spend a vacation in Mexico City, but we don't know if we need to get a special visa or a passport for our son. We called immigration and Mexican consul officials, but they were ambiguous about how to handle this type of situation. Can Action Line advise us? M.G., South Gate.

To avoid possible problems, you should get a certificate of U.S. citizenship for your son before you take him out of the country, according to the sources we checked. You can obtain the proper forms by writing to the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, 300 N. Los Angeles St., Los Angeles, Calif. 90012. It probably will take at least two months to process your application. Without this certificate, your son can still travel freely in Mexico since he was born there, but you may encounter problems with U.S. Immigration officials when you reenter the United States. To visit Mexico City, an American citizen must obtain a tourist permit by presenting his birth certificate or passport to the Mexican Ministry of Tourism, 3106 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles. A spokesman for that office said that since your son was born in Mexico, he probably would not need a tourist permit unless he is registered as an American citizen with the INS. Your son, in effect, can have dual citizenship. As long as you and your husband were American citizens when your son was born, he will be granted a certificate of U.S. citizenship and the United States will view him strictly as an American citizen, but the Mexican government will still recognize him as a citizen of that country.

My 60-year-old mother recently took her first driving test and came home all shook up because she was fingerprinted. She said it was an invasion of privacy and reminded her of George Orwell's book "1984" and of Big Brother. To set her at ease, please find out why the Department of Motor Vehicles takes the prints and what they do with them. Mrs. C.D., Long Beach.

The prints, which are of thumbs only, are kept on file at the DMV in Sacramento and are used as a means of identification, along with a person's name and birthdate, said W.P. Scanland, DMV official in Sacramento. The DMV's file of prints isn't turned over to the Federal Bureau of Investigation or any other law enforcement agency, but the thumbprints of any individual will be given to them on request, he said. The prints are frequently used by federal agencies in attempts to identify bodies of disaster victims who can be identified in no other way. Two victims of a recent airplane crash overseas were identified by prints from their license applications. The prints also are used to protect the license holder in case his license is lost or stolen and someone else applies for a duplicate of it or tries to renew it.

Bad bill

In September, I bought a hand massage unit from the Niagara Therapy Corp. for $143. I paid $78 down and financed the rest. I made my first two monthly payments to Niagara and then my account was transferred to the General Electric Credit Corp. (GECC). So far, I've made $60 in payments, leaving a balance of $5 plus interest. But for the last several months, the company has billed me for $30 and I keep getting threatening letters. I am a disabled widow living on a limited income and I can't afford to make double payments on this bill. I've written to the company and sent copies of all my canceled checks, but I still get the delinquent notices. Can Action Line help? C.W., Long Beach.

You will receive a corrected bill. The first two payments you made to the Niagara Therapy Corp. weren't credited to your account when the records were transferred to the General Electric Credit Corp. When we first contacted Mary Peckham, a customer service supervisor for GECC, she said she hadn't received copies of your canceled checks, so we mailed her the set you sent to Action Line. She was able to track down your first payment to Niagara, but the second one apparently was never recorded. Your account has now been credited with the proper amount.

REACTION

Recently Action Line published an item about a woman who had paid a substantial deposit to Royal Decor, 1850 S. Pioneer Blvd., Artesia, then learned the owner had disappeared. I bought this business, which we now call Royal Carpets and Drapes, in late February, months after this unfortunate transaction but before the Action Line item ran and this item has hurt my business. I have lost at least two sales and been told by others that they were influenced by the article not to buy from me. Action Line is read and respected by almost everyone in this area and I am having a hard time getting them to patronize my business, even though I had nothing to do with the problem occurred. I would be most grateful if you would explain to your readers that we are not the same people that the woman had trouble with. R.H., Artesia.

Two save tot, 2, from garage fire

Two men braved dense smoke and intense flames Friday to rescue a 2-year-old boy from a burning garage in Orange, firemen said.

Fire fighters said the two heroes ran into the flaming garage at 2060 Breckenridge St., about 5:20 p.m., and snatched Bryn Lareau from the front seat of a car.

Rescuers Larry Case, 35, who lives across the street from the Lareau house, and his friend, Reynold Leap, 34, of 3929 Alanda Ave., Orange, said the boy was standing on the front seat of the car and bawling when they entered and grabbed him.

Firemen said the boy apparently was playing alone in the garage, where his father, Lawrence Lareau, 29, a mechanic, had partially disassembled a car.

Apparently the boy turned the car's ignition on and hit the accelerator, causing a discharge of gasoline. Either a spark from the car or the pilot flame on a water heater ignited the gasoline, Inspector Lou Cahill said.

They boy's mother, Sharlene Lareau, 29, heard a sound like an explosion, and ran through a connecting corridor to the front seat of a car.

Turned back by the flames, she ran out the front door of the house screaming, and the two rescuers ran to her aid.

As Leap forced his way through the rear door of the garage, Case entered through the front door, and they carried the boy to safety unharmed.

"A minute or two later, the child would have been killed," Cahill said.

Instead, he said, no injuries resulted from the fire, which firemen put out within 10 minutes. Damage to the structure was estimated at $18,000.

He said the damage cost

Ford endorses utility tax aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford endorsed a joint labor-management plan Tuesday for special tax breaks and other measures to speed up power plant construction, help prevent electricity shortages and provide new jobs as the economy expands.

The utility industry — plagued in recent months with plant delays and cancellations brought on by financial and environmental problems — reacted with delight.

THE PLAN was presented to Ford by the Labor-Management Council headed by Labor Secretary John T. Dunlop. Its tax proposals now will be sent to the House Ways and Means Committee.

"I accept and endorse (the recommendations) because they make a significant contribution in reducing the nation's dependence on oil imports and in conserving scarce natural gas supplies," Ford said in a statement.

"Additionally, an expansion in electric utility construction and production will provide solid, long-range employment which will be highly beneficial to the country. An increase in electric utility capacity will also contribute significantly to economic expansion."

Members of the council — which includes AFL-

CIO President George Meany, United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock, General Motors Chairman Richard C. Gerstenberg and U.S. Steel Vice Chairman R. Heath Larry — said the restoration of canceled power plant projects is imperative.

THEIR plan to ease the problem included granting tax deferrals for reinvested utility dividends, raising the tax credits for utility investments from 10 to 12 per cent, allowing immediate depreciation of utility construction costs and continuing the fast tax write-off of pollution control equipment costs.

Dunlop said he expects labor and industry leaders to "go to Capitol Hill and argue for (the plan) and work for its approval." He estimated the proposals would cost the government $500 million to $1 billion in lost tax revenues during fiscal year 1976.

The council also recommended creation of a task force "to tackle the problems of delays in completion of utility plans." Ford named Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb to set up and head the group.

The Edison Electric Institute, the main association of the nation's investor-owned electric utility companies, called Ford's actions "most encouraging."

Latest indicators point to production upsurge

By RICHARD HUGHES
UPI Business Writer

A record two-month clearance of unsold goods by U.S. business puts the economy in position for a surge in production, according to a government report Friday.

Providing further evidence of the end to the severe business slump, the Commerce Department said manufacturers sold $1.9 billion worth of goods from inventory in April.

The 0.7 per cent decline in inventories pushed stockpiles of all businesses to a seasonally adjusted $267.08 billion from $268.99 billion in March. The April decline followed an identical 0.7 per cent reduction in March and a smaller drop in February.

It was the first time since 1961 that stocks declined three months in a row.

At the same time, April sales rose 2.1 per cent after falling 2.6 per cent in March.

The heavy two-month inventory liquidation was a prerequisite to an end of the recession. With inventories down and sales up, the nation's industries, operating at about 65 per cent of capacity, were expected to increase output.

Mellon Bank of Pittsburgh said a survey of 2,300 income tax rebate checks deposited in area banks indicates consumers are spending their tax windfalls.

The bank said 85 per cent of the checks were either deposited in checking accounts or exchanged for cash or traveler's checks.

Recent increases in retail sales, including auto sales, also indicate an increase in spending.

Friday, U.S. automakers said early June new car sales came within 6 per cent of matching last year's performance.

Sales at Chrysler and American Motors were up 6 per cent and General Motors' sales were off less than 1 per cent. But Ford Motor's sales fell 25 per cent.

Simon blasts Congress for 'delaying' on energy issue

AMSTERDAM (UPI) — Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, criticizing Congress for "dawdling and delay" on energy issues, said Friday the United States may have to import 50 per cent of its oil by 1980.

But he said the future may brighten because the United States could not accept "monopolistic practices" of oil exporting countries.

IN AN address at an international conference of financial experts, Simon said "only the strong leadership of President Ford has averted a total failure of America's energy policies.

"While several members (of Congress) are seeking to develop an effective program, the fact remains the overall performance of the Congress in the energy field over the last several months — and indeed over the last several years — has been marked by unconscionable dawdling and delay," Simon said.

He said U.S. dependence on foreign oil had increased since the 1973 Arab embargo and unless the trend changed "we will be reliant upon foreign sources for as much as 50 per cent of our oil by the end of the decade."

HOWEVER, he expressed optimism for the future because of a growing awareness in the United States that "we can neither accept nor afford the monopolistic practices" of oil exporting nations.

He said the exporters used "sheer demagoguery" to justify new price increases, scheduled to go into effect October 1.

"In effect," he said, "the oil producers have exacerbated worldwide inflation through their policies and now claim that because of that inflation they are entitled to further price increases."

Simon arrived in Amsterdam from Paris where he attended an international monetary conference.

HE SAID some of the Paris talks ended on an optimistic note. American experts ran into problems in Paris over the French desire for a return to fixed exchange rates and a larger role for gold.

He said the delegation was "disappointed" that no final agreement was reached, but "I was heartened by our progress in narrowing the range of contentious issues and I believe we now have a foundation for a future accord."

Senate unit OKs jobless aid plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee voted Friday to extend the law under which jobless workers may get up to 65 weeks of benefits but to limit the extended benefits to states with high unemployment rates.

In sending the legislation to the Senate for debate, the committee made substantial revisions in the version passed by the House last month.

The principal change voted by the committee was to provide for reducing the duration of benefit payments under certain conditions, as requested by Secretary of Labor John Dunlop.

However, the senators worked out their own formula for the reduction, tying them entirely to jobless rates in the various states. Dunlop had asked for benefit reductions based on a combination of national and area rates. Under the committee's provision, effective on July 1, the 65 weeks of maximum benefits would apply in states with insured unemployment rate of 6 per cent or higher.

For those with a rate between 5 and 6 per cent, up to 52 weeks would be paid. If the rate were under 5 per cent, the ceiling would be 39 weeks.

The House bill would continue the 65-week benefit period throughout the nation as long as the national unemployment rate is above 4 per cent.

Legislation which makes possible the 65-week total will expire at the end of this month unless Congress acts by then to extend it. The House bill would extend the extra benefits through June 30, 1976. The Senate version would extend them through March 31, 1977.

$2 bill favored despite opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although a majority of Americans indicated in a government-financed survey that they oppose the return of the $2 bill, key officials in Congress and the Treasury Department say they favor the idea.

A return of the $2 bill in time for the 1976 bicentennial celebration has been under study for several months and a decision probably will be made by midsummer, says Stephen S. Gardner, deputy secretary of the Treasury.

BOTH Cardner and Treasury Secretary William E. Simon say they want to see the $2 bill again, and believe it would gain much wider public acceptance the next time it did before.

Some officials argue the bill would have more appeal now that the $1 bill is worth less, and its production could save as much as $4 million a year.

Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., chairman of a House subcommittee on commerce, consumer and monetary affairs, has formally asked Simon to bring back the $2 bill "in sizeable numbers."

HOWEVER, a study conducted by a group of students at the Graduate School of Business Administration at Harvard University on behalf of the Federal Reserve Board said that a majority of Americans contacted in the survey appeared to oppose the idea.

House pushes energy bill tax-cut action

By CARL CRAFT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, having yanked the sharpest tax-hiking teeth out of its energy bill, ended a week's work on the legislation by voting Friday on special tax cuts.

Action is due to resume Tuesday on the remaining parts of the energy measure.

THE House agreed to aid development of electric cars, but refused to touch stoves burning wood, buffalo chips or corn husks.

This process of adding special, generally limited, items to a major tax bill is popularly known as turning it into a Christmas tree. The House voted 73 to 31 in favor of giving an estimated $25-million to $35-million tax cut to Americans buying electric-powered cars.

But Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, who went along with the electric car amendment, spoke against the proposal aimed at giving about $32 million in tax cuts for buying stoves which burn wood and assort waste.

The stove proposal died 38 to 9 after Ullman said adoption of it would "make the House look rather ridiculous."

The action on these amendments followed votes Thursday in which the House supported a feature to give Americans a special $710 million tax cut for insulating their homes before 1978.

DURING a week of constantly weakening the energy bill which the Ways and Means Committee had recommended as a Democratic answer to President Ford's energy proposals, the House killed features which would have increased gasoline taxes and would have put a tax on gas-guzzler cars.

Rather than using taxes, the House decided automobile fuel economy standards should be through civil financial penalties on any automaker violating the standard.

General Motors criticized the provision, saying it could actually work against the national goal of conserving gasoline.

"If legislation forces larger cars out of the market — as the bill's ultimate 28-miles-per-gallon minimum certainly would be the likely result is that many will keep the cars they have rather than buy new cars that someone else thinks they should have," the automaker said in a statement.

On Friday, Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., failed by 86 to 10 on his amendment which would have given a $200 tax cut to those who buy American-made cars getting at least 18 miles a gallon.

Earlier, House Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill of Massachusetts, speaking to reporters, said another White House meeting Friday showed "conciliation is in the air" and he is convinced President Ford wants an energy bill from Congress despite the impasse between the lawmakers and administration on how to hold down oil imports.

U. S. ARMY 200 YEARS OLD TODAY!

JUNE 14, 1775 — THE CONTINENTAL ARMY IS FORMED UNDER THE COMMAND OF GENERAL GEORGE WASHINGTON.

JUNE 14, 1975 — THE UNITED STATES ARMY IS STILL SERVING PROUDLY.

For 200 years, the Army has fought successfully for the freedom of all Americans. But the Army has also made many non-military contributions to the growth and welfare of the nation.

Army personnel have conquered typhoid and yellow fever, developed flameproof fabrics, perfected the process of freeze-drying, introduced chlorination of water, helped to control floods, provided serum to epidemic-stricken communities and assisted in rebuilding, following natural disasters. Their contribution to engineering has included the building of the Panama Canal and Alaskan Highway.

Like the Army of 1775, today's Army relies on volunteers. From a handful of riflemen who took on the whole British Empire to win the nation's independence 200 years ago, the Army has grown to a strength of 785,000 men and women volunteers today.

The Army has never failed this nation and, with the support of the public it serves, it never will.

Join the people who've joined the Army.

U.S. to admit Chile refugees

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has decided to admit Chilean refugees into the country on a case-by-case basis, the State Department said Friday.

Department spokesman Robert L. Funseth said the decision will immediately affect thousands of Chileans who have fled into Peru, and will apply to those deported or allowed to leave Chile by the military government there.

Funseth said that under the plan, which has been approved by the Justice Department, the Immigration and Naturalization Service will consider Chilean requests to enter the country on a case-by-case basis.

He said the U.S. embassies in Santiago and Lima are being instructed on how to help carry out the program.

Officials have estimated that 10,000 or more Chileans have left the country since the military overthrew Marxist President Salvador Allende in 1973.

Funseth confirmed a report by the Boston Globe that William Rogers, assistant secretary of state for Latin American affairs, outlined the refugee admission plan at a closed session of the Senate Judiciary Committee Thursday.

The Globe quoted Rogers as telling the committee: "It is inconsistent to seek cooperation from international organizations and other countries on the Vietnamese refugee problem if we refuse to lift a finger to help the Chileans."

"There are approximately 4,000 to 5,000 currently in detention in Chile," Rogers said, some of them "held without charge for as long as 21 months."

The Globe quoted him as saying "Communists, terrorists or economic distress cases" will not be among those allowed into the U.S.

After the 1973 coup, the United Nations urged member nations to admit Chilean refugees. The U.S. agreed to accept 400, but only 26 were approved and only 19 actually came to this country.

Ky vows to fight refugee misuse

WEIMAR (AP) — Former South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said Friday he would fight against exploitation of his fellow refugees in the American labor market.

At a news conference at a refugee center in the Sierra foothills, Ky told reporters:

"WE WANT to have a decent life. We don't want to be slaves. We don't want to live for the next 15 or 20 years on welfare."

Asked what he meant by his remarks about slaves, Ky said in any country there are good and bad people. The latter include persons who would exploit others in the labor market, whether they are American or Vietnamese, he said.

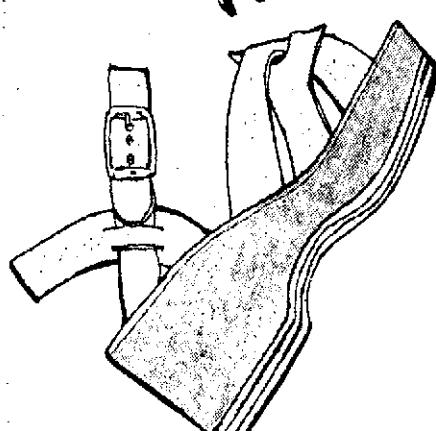

"It is easier to exploit Vietnamese labor because we are desperate. There are those people who try to exploit us. I will do my best to see that does not happen," he said.

Ky said he plans to stay 10 days in California — part of that time at the Weimar Medical Center, where 275 refugees are being cared for by Food

Ford endorses utility tax aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford endorsed a joint labor-management plan Tuesday for special tax breaks and other measures to speed up power plant construction, help prevent electricity shortages and provide new jobs as the economy expands.

The utility industry — plagued in recent months with plant delays and cancellations brought on by financial and environmental problems — reacted with delight.

THE PLAN was presented to Ford by the Labor-Management Council headed by Labor Secretary John T. Dunlop. Its tax proposals now will be sent to the House Ways and Means Committee.

"I accept and endorse (the recommendations) because they make a significant contribution in reducing the nation's dependence on oil imports and in conserving scarce natural gas supplies," Ford said in a statement.

"Additionally, an expansion in electric utility construction and production will provide solid, long range employment which will be highly beneficial to the country. An increase in electric utility capacity will also contribute significantly to economic expansion."

Members of the council — which includes AFL-

CIO President George Meany, United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock, General Motors Chairman Richard C. Gerstenberg and U.S. Steel Vice Chairman R. Heath Larry — said the restoration of canceled power plant projects is imperative.

THEIR plan to ease the problem included granting tax deferrals for reinvested utility dividends, raising the tax credits for utility investments from 10 to 12 per cent, allowing immediate depreciation of utility construction costs and continuing the fast tax write-off of pollution control equipment costs.

Dunlop said he expects labor and industry leaders to "go to Capitol Hill and argue for (the plan) and work for its approval." He estimated the proposals would cost the government $500 million to $1 billion in lost tax revenues during fiscal year 1976.

The council also recommended creation of a task force "to tackle the problems of delays in completion of utility plans." Ford named Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb to set up and head the group.

The Edison Electric Institute, the main association of the nation's investor-owned electric utility companies, called Ford's actions "most encouraging."

Latest indicators point to production upsurge

By RICHARD HUGHES
UPI Business Writer

A record two-month clearance of unsold goods by U.S. business puts the economy in position for a surge in production, according to a government report Friday.

Providing further evidence of the end to the severe business slump, the Commerce Department said manufacturers sold $1.9 billion worth of goods from inventory in April.

The 0.7 per cent decline in inventories pushed stockpiles of all businesses to a seasonally adjusted $267.08 billion from $268.99 billion in March. The April decline followed an identical 0.7 per cent reduction in March and a smaller drop in February.

It was the first time since 1961 that stocks declined three months in a row.

At the same time, April sales rose 2.1 per cent after falling 2.6 per cent in March.

The heavy two-month inventory liquidation was a prerequisite to an end of the recession. With inventories down and sales up, the nation's industries, operating at about 65 per cent of capacity, were expected to increase output.

Mellon Bank of Pittsburgh said a survey of 2,300 income tax rebate checks deposited in area banks indicates consumers are spending their tax windfalls.

The bank said 85 per cent of the checks were either deposited in checking accounts or exchanged for cash or traveler's checks.

Recent increases in retail sales, including auto sales, also indicate an increase in spending.

Friday, U.S. automakers said early June new car sales came within 6 per cent of matching last year's performance.

Sales at Chrysler and American Motors were up 6 per cent and General Motors' sales were off less than 1 per cent. But Ford Motor's sales fell 25 per cent.

Simon blasts Congress for 'delaying' on energy issue

AMSTERDAM (UPI) — Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, criticizing Congress for "dawdling and delay" on energy issues, said Friday the United States may have to import 50 per cent of its oil by 1980.

But he said the future may brighten because the United States could not accept "monopolistic practices" of oil exporting countries.

IN AN address at an international conference of financial experts, Simon said "only the strong leadership of President Ford has averted a total failure of America's energy policies.

"While several members (of Congress) are seeking to develop an effective program, the fact remains the overall performance of the Congress in the energy field over the last several months — and indeed over the last several years — has been marked by unconscionable dawdling and delay," Simon said.

He said U.S. dependence on foreign oil had increased since the 1973 Arab embargo and unless the trend changed "we will be reliant upon foreign sources for as much as 50 per cent of our oil by the end of the decade."

HOWEVER, he expressed optimism for the future because of a growing awareness in the United States that "we can neither accept nor afford the monopolistic practices" of

oil exporting nations.

He said the exporters used "sheer demagoguery" to justify new price increases, scheduled to go into effect October 1.

"In effect," he said, "the oil producers have exacerbated worldwide inflation through their policies and now claim that because of that inflation they are entitled to further price increases."

Simon arrived in Amsterdam from Paris where he attended an international monetary conference.

HE SAID some of the Paris talks ended on an optimistic note. American experts ran into problems in Paris over the French desire for a return to fixed exchange rates and a larger role for gold.

He said the delegation was "disappointed" that no final agreement was reached, but "I was heartened by our progress in narrowing the range of contentious issues and I believe we now have a foundation for a future accord."

Senate unit OKs jobless aid plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee voted Friday to extend the law under which jobless workers may get up to 65 weeks of benefits but to limit the extended benefits to states with high unemployment rates.

In sending the legislation to the Senate for debate, the committee made substantial revisions in the version passed by the House last month.

The principal change voted by the committee was to provide for reducing the duration of benefit payments under certain conditions, as requested by Secretary of Labor John Dunlop.

However, the senators worked out their own formula for the reduction, tying them entirely to jobless rates in the various states. Dunlop had asked for benefit reductions based on a combination of national and area rates. Under the committee's provision, effective on July 1, the 65 weeks of maximum benefits would apply in states with insured unemployment rate of 6 per cent or higher.

For those with a rate between 5 and 6 per cent, up to 52 weeks would be paid. If the rate were under 5 per cent, the ceiling would be 39 weeks.

The House bill would continue the 65-week benefit period throughout the nation as long as the national unemployment rate is above 4 per cent.

Legislation which makes possible the 65-week total will expire at the end of this month unless Congress acts by then to extend it. The House bill would extend the extra benefits through June 30, 1976. The Senate version would extend them through March 31, 1977.

$2 bill favored despite opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although a majority of Americans indicated in a government-financed survey that they oppose the return of the $2 bill, key officials in Congress and the Treasury Department say they favor the idea.

A return of the $2 bill in time for the 1976 bicentennial celebration has been under study for several months and a decision probably will be made by midsummer, says Stephen S. Gardner, deputy secretary of the Treasury.

BOTH Gardner and Treasury Secretary William E. Simon say they want to see the $2 bill again, and believe it would gain much wider public acceptance the next time than it did before.

Some officials argue the bill would have more appeal now that the $1 bill is worth less, and its production could save as much as $4 million a year.

Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., chairman of a House subcommittee on commerce, consumer and monetary affairs, has formally asked Simon to bring back the $2 bill "in sizeable numbers."

HOWEVER, a study conducted by a group of students at the Graduate School of Business Administration at Harvard University on behalf of the Federal Reserve Board said that a majority of Americans contacted in the survey appeared to oppose the idea.

House pushes energy bill tax-cut action

for insulating their homes before 1978.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, having yanked the sharpest tax-hiking teeth out of its energy bill, ended a week's work on the legislation by voting Friday on special tax cuts.

Action is due to resume Tuesday on the remaining parts of the energy measure.

THE House agreed to aid development of electric cars, but refused to touch stoves burning wood, buffalo chips or corn husks.

This process of adding special, generally limited, items to a major tax bill is popularly known as turning it into a Christmas tree. The House voted 73 to 31 in favor of giving an estimated $25-million to $35-million tax cut to electric-powered cars.

"If legislation forces larger cars out of the market — as the bill's ultimate 28-miles-per-gallon minimum certainly would be the likely result is that many will keep the cars they have rather than buy new cars that someone else thinks they should have," the automaker said in a statement.

On Friday, Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., failed by 86 to 10 on his amendment which would have given a $200 tax cut to those who buy American-made cars getting at least 18 miles a gallon.

Earlier, House Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill of Massachusetts, speaking to reporters, said another White House meeting Friday showed "conciliation is in the air" and he is convinced President Ford wants an energy bill from Congress despite the impasse between the lawmakers and administration on how to hold down oil imports.

U. S. ARMY 200 YEARS OLD TODAY!

JUNE 14, 1775 — THE CONTINENTAL ARMY IS FORMED UNDER THE COMMAND OF GENERAL GEORGE WASHINGTON.

JUNE 14, 1975 — THE UNITED STATES ARMY IS STILL SERVING PROUDLY.

For 200 years, the Army has fought successfully for the freedom of all Americans. But the Army has also made many non-military contributions to the growth and welfare of the nation.

Army personnel have conquered typhoid and yellow fever, developed flameproof fabrics, perfected the process of freeze-drying, introduced chlorination of water, helped to control floods, provided serum to epidemic-stricken communities and assisted in rebuilding, following natural disasters. Their contribution to engineering has included the building of the Panama Canal and Alaskan Highway.

Like the Army of 1775, Today's Army relies on volunteers. From a handful of riflemen who took on the whole British Empire to win the nation's independence 200 years ago, the Army has grown to a strength of 785,000 men and women volunteers today.

The Army has never failed this nation and, with the support of the public it serves, it never will.

Join the people who've joined the Army.

U.S. to admit Chile refugees

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has decided to admit Chilean refugees into the country on a case-by-case basis, the State Department said Friday.

Department spokesman Robert L. Funseth said the decision will immediately affect thousands of Chileans who have fled into Peru, and will apply to those deported or allowed to leave Chile by the military government there.

Funseth said that under the plan, which has been approved by the Justice Department, the Immigration and Naturalization Service will consider Chilean requests to enter the country on a case-by-case basis.

He said the U.S. embassies in Santiago and Lima are being instructed on how to help carry out the program.

Officials have estimated that 10,000 or more Chileans have left the country since the military overthrew Marxist President Salvador Allende in 1973.

Funseth confirmed a report by the Boston Globe that William Rogers, assistant secretary of state for Latin American affairs, outlined the refugee admission plan at a closed session of the Senate Judiciary Committee Thursday.

The Globe quoted Rogers as telling the committee: "It is inconsistent to seek cooperation from international organizations and other countries on the Vietnamese refugee problem if we refuse to lift a finger to help the Chileans."

"There are approximately 4,000 to 5,000 currently in detention in Chile," Rogers said, some of them "held without charge for as long as 21 months."

The Globe quoted him as saying "Communists, terrorists or economic distress cases" will not be among those allowed into the U.S.

After the 1973 coup, the United Nations urged member nations to admit Chilean refugees. The U.S. agreed to accept 400, but only 26 were approved and only 19 actually came to this country.

Ky vows to fight refugee misuse

WEIMAR (AP) — Former South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said Friday he would fight against exploitation of his fellow refugees in the American labor market.

At a news conference at a refugee center in the Sierra foothills, Ky told reporters:

"WE WANT to have a decent life. We don't want to be slaves. We don't want to live for the next 15 or 20 years on welfare."

Ky said he also planned to look at land in Arizona and Texas.

In his remarks, Ky said the center, which has been renamed Hope Village, was a good way to approach refugee resettlement.

He added that he opposed individual sponsorship programs, because he felt refugees got more benefits out of the group approach.

KY SAID it was important to organize refugee efforts quickly because he said he felt that once the money Congress has appropriated for refugee aid is exhausted it will be difficult to get more.

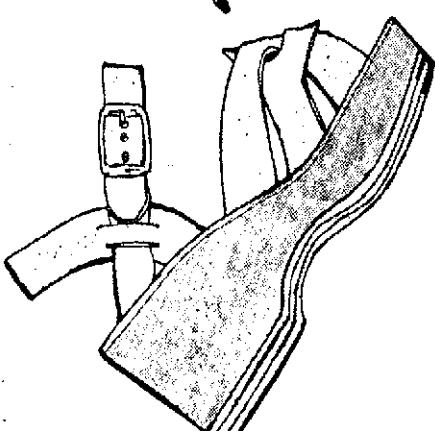

Ky praised President Ford for having a "good and strong-willed desire" to help refugees, but he said he thought some government officials may not "really know where they (the refugees) will go in the next few days and weeks, and that's a problem."

Ky said he plans to stay 10 days in California — part of that time at the Weimar Medical Center, where 275 refugees are being cared for by Food

Church leaders say

CIA hurts missions

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Representatives of American missionaries overseas, whose work depends on their being trusted by people of other lands, say that recent disclosures of CIA activity have jeopardized mission efforts.

"It creates suspicions and puts the missionary in a precarious position," says the Rev. Charles P. Davignon of the Catholic Foreign Mission Society of America, whose about 1,000 far-flung members popularly are called Maryknoll missionaries.

"Our work has been put under kind of a shadow."

Similar anxieties have arisen in numerous missionary agencies, both Protestant and Catholic, as accumulating information emerges about undercover CIA intervention in affairs of foreign countries, particularly in Latin America.

"A lot of missionaries are nervous about it," says the Rev. William Wipfler, an Episcopal priest and head of the Latin American section of the National Council of Churches Division of Overseas Ministries.

"WE SEE SIGNS it could begin the closing of doors," he added in an interview.

Altogether about 42,500 American missionaries labor in countries abroad, 7,500 of them Catholics and 35,000 of them Protestants. Nearly 12,000 of them work in Latin America.

The Rev. Eugene Culhane of the Latin-American division of the U.S. Catholic Conference in Washington, D.C., says revelations of clandestine CIA manipulations in foreign cultures cause their people to "put up their guard" to missionaries.

"It's going to reduce the rapport," he said.

The uneasiness in missionary circles first began generating last fall after disclosures about CIA expenditures in Chile to buttress opposition to the Salvador Allende government in the period before it was overthrown in a military coup.

At the time, officials of 16 Protestant and Catholic mission agencies said the CIA role was "blatantly incompatible with the ideals we hold as Americans and Christians. We missionaries have felt firsthand the effects of such intervention."

SUBSEQUENT DISCLOSURES have indicated various other CIA interventions, and Ford has said he is looking into claims of CIA involvement in assassination plots.

Both St. Anthony Messenger, a Catholic magazine put out in Cincinnati, and the Christian Century, an ecumenical weekly put out in Chicago, recently carried an article by Gary MacEoin about the problem, saying:

"The North American missionary has in fact suffered a loss of credibility. As a citizen with pride in his country's reputation as a law-abiding nation, he has typically identified himself with . . . its policies. Now he has lost moral standing. A new gap has opened between him and the people he seeks to serve."

Father Davignon, a former missionary in Peru, said missionaries as Americans always have had to overcome traces of distrust among indigenous people, and the new disclosures "make that process more difficult."

'God Concept' disturbs woman

By BILL MACKAY
Ridder News Service

WICHITA, Kan.— The concept of God the Father does not comfort the Rev. Donna Capper.

"God is both male and female," explains the slim, slacks-wearing mother of three teenagers. She is an associate minister at Wichita's East Heights United Methodist Church.

She sees organized religion as male-oriented.

"This is incongruous," she says. "Women are being ordained as clergy persons, and half the congregations are women. But the hymns are male: Rise Up, Oh Men of God!"

Incongruous, too, since Jesus Christ apparently considered women His equal. "He talked with them. Atc with them" — and got roundly criticized for it by the men of his time.

She denies being a militant feminist. "Women's Lib is a mishmash. It's human liberation basically."

Males, she says, are enslaved, too. "Men are being ripped off. Having to be the breadwinner. Having to go to war. Having to give up the children in a divorce."

SHE HOPES they'll see the light. "We'll get something accomplished when men understand what equality can do for them."

Rev. Capper, wife of a dermatologist, lives in a comfortable, spacious home here. She doesn't see her white middle-class sisters as being Gung Ho for liberation.

"They have it fantastically nice. Satisfied women. Happy slaves. Don't want to give it up." She confesses to harboring what she calls "Angries."

One of these is the parent-child relationship between clergy and laity.

"The congregation wants a father figure. The clergy has been treating lay persons like children."

Neither, in her view, wishes to deal with life on an adult level. "It's 'Here's the rule; follow it.' We've been preaching little moralistic boxes — do's and don'ts. What a two-year-old understands best is 'Do not!'"

RATHER THAN preach "moralistic rules," clergy persons in her view should "get involved."

She never intended to become a minister, says this lifetime Methodist who grew up in a small Iowa town not far from Waterloo. She had been a church organist and choir director, however.

"My kids were in school. I wanted something to do. I enjoy learning." So she enrolled in a Methodist theological school in Ohio. "It never occurred I could be a minister," she says now. "I'd thought, Hey, it would be neat if one of my children were."

"Suddenly my husband, Stan, woke up married to a minister. We're both taking it very well."

Last year she served Methodist congregations in nearby Furley and Greenwich, Kan.

Some Methodists have not as yet accepted women pastors. "You know," it has been said of Rev. Capper, "the moment she steps into the pulpit she is committing heresy."

REV. CAPPER predicts that the brisk winds of change she is helping generate will be far-reaching. "The depth of changes that probably will occur can't be visualized. Political, economic, new ways of looking at war. The theological ramifications will be immense. A change from the father image, for one."

Barry Jr. feels out Senate bid

By DOUG WILLIS
AP Political Writer

SACRAMENTO — Barry Goldwater Jr. tossed his hat about halfway into the ring this week in a renewal of his off-again, on-again campaign for the U.S. Senate.

Formation of a "Goldwater Exploratory Committee" was announced Friday in Los Angeles with the formal approval of the Southern California congressman.

The committee is not precisely a campaign organization. But it is soliciting funds for precampaign polling and organizing for the son of the 1964 Republican presidential nominee.

The announcement of the Goldwater Exploratory Committee is the first positive sign in recent months of Goldwater's interest in challenging incumbent Democratic Sen. John Tunney in 1976.

Earlier this year, the 36-year-old Goldwater made a series of statewide speaking and press conference tours in the traditional style of unannounced candidates. At that time, aides touted his potential candidacy in off-the-record statements.

But since then, Goldwater has discouraged talk that he might try to join his father in the Senate.

Goldwater ranked first with his own party among Republican hopefuls last week in Mervin Field's first California Poll on the 1976 U.S. Senate race.

Goldwater's 32 per cent rating among GOP voters compared with 25 per cent for Houston Flanigan, the 1974 Republican gubernatorial candidate; 16 per cent for Robert Finch, who is the only formally announced GOP candidate, and 1 per cent for state Sen. Dennis Carpenter.

The announcement of the Goldwater Exploratory Committee is the first positive sign in recent months of Goldwater's interest in challenging incumbent Democratic Sen. John Tunney in 1976.

'Reeducation' for S. Viets

SAIGON (UPI) — A student in a compulsory reeducation course run by South Vietnam's new Communist rulers says the emphasis is on self-criticism, with each person required to tell of at least one "crime" he committed while employed by the old administration.

Soldiers, police and other officials of the former South Vietnamese regime began the courses Thursday.

'Mysterious force' may be twisting distant spacecraft

MOUNTAIN VIEW (UPI) — An American spacecraft far out in unexplored space is twisting mysteriously and may have encountered some unknown force in the universe, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration disclosed Friday.

The Pioneer 10 spacecraft, now 745 million miles from earth and halfway between the orbits of Jupiter and Saturn "is making some small unexplained orientation changes," an announcement from NASA's Ames Research Center said.

Scientists at the laboratory, where Pioneer 10 is being tracked, said "the spacecraft's axis of rotation is changing position about one-twelfth of a degree per day, or roughly one degree every two weeks."

The announcement said project officials "don't know the reason for these changes in spacecraft orientation."

"They could be due either to a very slight malfunction or to some kind of interplanetary phenomenon," it said.

An Ames official observed that Pioneer 10, launched in March, 1972, is halfway between the orbits of Jupiter and Saturn, farther out in space than any other probe from earth.

"This is all unexplored space," he said.

The spokesman said NASA scitists think it likely the spacecraft is going through a layer of some kind of space "dust" which is causing the twisting.

However, he said, it is not acting according to the expected pattern if that is the case, and therefore some unknown force has to be considered a possibility.

Ames said the mysterious twisting began some time ago and began at a distinct rate three weeks ago.

"Evidence so far is contradictory," NASA said. "If the spacecraft, which rotates at five rpm, is moving from the force of a tiny gas leak in its attitude control system, then these tiny thrusts would have to be timed exactly — five times a minute — an unlikely condition.

"Magnetic field effects either from space, or on board the spacecraft have been largely ruled out."

"If Pioneer is encountering interplanetary dust between Jupiter and Saturn, radio tracking should show small changes in spacecraft speed, and speed changes have not been seen."

NASA said additional tests are being undertaken to find the cause of the attitude changes.

Pioneer 10 was launched in March, 1972 and completed the first exploration of Jupiter in December, 1973. It continued on into space and is expected to leave the solar system in 1978.

The spokesman said NASA sci-

Mars shot, historic Soviet, U.S. rendezvous readied

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — Engineers made preparations Friday for two U.S. space ventures—the launching of a Viking spacecraft to Mars and the manned flight of Apollo-Soyuz.

Ground crews will begin Monday pumping fuel into the Apollo spacecraft and the Saturn 1B launch rocket that will carry three American astronauts aloft July 15 for an historic space rendezvous and link-up with two Russian cosmonauts.

Fueling of the Apollo and the auxiliary second-stage booster of the launch rocket will take about five days.

virtue of his state office, frequently referred to the contrast between the working people of California who pay the bills and the life-style expressed by the mansions.

"I don't disagree too much," regent Elinor Heller responded to Brown, "but I wish you would go and look at the campuses. If you can call most of them 'mansions' ... I just want to correct the accuracy of your words, Gov. Brown."

Brown responded politely: "They should be corrected, if they are inaccurate."

"In the main I agree with the governor's efforts to economize," said regent DeWitt Higgs. On the other hand, he said, the mansion expense is in line compared to other campuses systems, adding "we have to be competitive with other top universities."

"IT'S NOT enough just to compare," Brown shot back. "We have to set the example to the people of California" in holding down costs and acting as public servants rather than "living in luxury at public expense."

Brown told reporters later he thought the tide in time will go against the mansions although he said he recognized that day hadn't arrived among his fellow regents. The regents have been taking the expenses out of nonstate-provided UC funds ever since the Legislature cut out its appropriation for this year ago.

In other business, regent Norton Simon, the millionaire businessman, complained UC's $1 billion investments should be handled better.

"It is obvious we are getting much less than we should be getting in the current market," he declared, referring to bonds and bank interest as well as stocks.

"I am of the opinion that there is $15 million to $20 million being wasted because we won't spend a few thousand dollars for investment management..." Simon said. He said he had been unable to attend.

Friday in Washington, Hinshaw told the Independent Press-Telegram he didn't appear at the trial or in Congress for votes "because I had some other business I had to attend to."

placed the current rate of return as about 5.5 percent a year.

SIMON said he had tried without success for about a decade to press for more attention to investments — which are handled at the direction of regents — and added that if the regents wanted to make changes they would have to spend "more than 5 or 10 minutes on this" as he said had been the case in the past.

Two other regents said Simon had a point and suggested further study at the July or September regent meeting. Simon also complained he had improperly been switched in new committee assignments from the regent investment committee to finance.

"I think that was not appropriate," Simon declared. He then said he was refusing assignment to the finance committee.

The committee assignments are approved by regents as a whole after nomination by a selection committee.

The governor also disagreed with some regents on the question of collective bargaining at UC as included in current legislative proposals to set up unionization processes for state employees.

HITCH, who said university spokesmen had been unsuccessful in alerting legislators to the UC administration's point of view, declared it of "great concern" because it involved the "independence of the university." Hitch said he also believed "the regents and not the governor should bargain on behalf of the university."

Brown, responding to that later with a smile, said "I think I could probably get you a better deal" in such bargaining. The governor also criticized the UC Academic Senate for not having representatives during a legislative hearing over collective bargaining. An Academic Senate representative replied that the notice had been too short and they had been unable to attend.

"I am of the opinion that there is $15 million to $20 million being wasted because we won't spend a few thousand dollars for investment management..." Simon said. He said he had been unable to attend.

Snoop data being destroyed 'Illegal Army file'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department said Friday that documents in an Army counterintelligence microfilm file contained information on civilians that violated regulations.

Army Secretary Howard Callaway said these and a number of additional files — even ones that might have been legal — would be destroyed, and that the officers involved in the "oversight or misunderstanding" might be disciplined.

"It is not the Army's business to know what American citizens are doing except when their activities appear to pose a criminal threat..." Callaway said.

"While the continued presence in the CIAD microfilm files of outdated information concerning American civilians was a serious violation of this policy, I am satisfied on the basis of my investigation that it was an inadvertent one. We are, in any event, taking positive corrective steps to assure that similar violations do not recur."

The files in the Army's Counter Intelligence Analysis Detachment were the remains of a vast civilian snoop program that began in the mid-1960s on the orders of President Lyndon B. Johnson. It was discontinued under Army regulations issued in June of 1971 and the files were ordered destroyed.

A 1972 investigation by the Senate subcommittee on constitutional rights found that the Army kept files on at "least 100,000 civilians" in the late 1960s, when there were often violent racial incidents and demonstrations against the Vietnam War.

It said the Army acquired "great masses of data," much of it useless. It was so pervasive, a former intelligence officer told the panel, that half the 119 persons involved in a September, 1969, anti-war demonstration at Ft. Carson, Colo., were counter-agents.

Callaway said that a review of the microfilm files early this year discovered prohibited information. Investigators found:

— Out of the 24,000

documents added to the microfilm library since 1971, a total of 175 involved people or groups which had nothing to do with the Defense Department. It said 23 never should have been filed in the first place. Most of the documents involved foreign intelligence.

— Among the pre-1971 files were 9,200 documents involving people not affiliated with the Defense Department. Callaway said about 2,900 had nothing to do with Army intelligence needs. The others could be considered legitimate.

Nevertheless, he said, "all 9,200 documents may be eliminated from the files without significant impairment of the mission of CIAD."

Callaway speculated that the information got into the file properly, involving groups or individuals who opposed the Vietnam war and were either working among GIs or planning demonstrations against military installations. He suggested the material was kept by commanders who thought it had been removed in 1971.

Russ letters to U.S. opened, says lawsuit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Central Intelligence Agency was accused in a lawsuit Friday of illegally opening mail to this country from the Soviet Union.

The action was brought by "John Doe." The suit said the plaintiff was using a fictitious name "because of fear of retribution by the defendants."

The U.S. District Court suit in San Francisco named the federal government as a defendant and asked $10,000 damages for each violation of U.S. postal regulations, with the number of violations to be determined in the trial.

Individual defendants named were former CIA directors John McCone, Richard Helms, James Schlesinger and the current head of the agency, William Colby.

York Times report.

Meanwhile, Speaker Carl L. Albert accepted the resignation of Rep. Lucien N. Nedzi, D-Mich., from the chairmanship of the House Select Committee on Intelligence. He said he would appoint a new chairman on Monday.

The action brought to a close an unusual revolt by the Democrats on the committee. They began 10 days ago to press for Nedzi's removal as chairman on the ground that he could not conduct an impartial investigation because as chairman of another House committee he had been briefed on CIA wrongdoing by William E. Colby, director of central intelligence.

NANCY WINNARD....Second basemper

TEMPEST IN A SHE-CUP

DETROIT (AP) — The next inning for the Romulus Little League North may be played in U.S. District Court.

The parents of a sometimes second basemper say they will seek a federal injunction to allow their 8-year-old daughter to play without a boy's plastic athletic protector cup.

Nancy Winnard of Romulus was benched recently because of a local Little League rule requiring every player — girls as well as boys — to wear the protectors.

"I think it's dumb," the dark-haired, freckle-faced girl said.

"We went beyond the national rules as a safety measure because we had several boys hurt in this way," said Charles Christopher, president of the suburban Detroit league. The local board expanded on a National Little League requirement for catchers to wear the device.

"Nancy won't play until she wears a cup like the other kids," said her coach, Frank Ayers Jr. He noted the only other girl on the team passed the "cup check" that benched Nancy.

But Nancy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Winnard, contend the local requirement is a subtle form of discrimination against girls in Little League.

"I view this as a violation of my daughter's constitutional rights," said the 33-year-old Winnard, an automotive engineer. "Besides, it's plain stupid. One doctor said, 'Just tell the league board that with girls the plumbing is already safe on the inside.'

"I tend to think that somebody is testing this to see if they can get it passed. If they can, then they can probably do it other places," Walsh said.

Nancy's time on the bench won't cripple her team.

"She's not good," admitted her mother. "She just stands up there and hopes and prays she'll make it to first base on four balls."

"Before the season she couldn't even hold a bat. Now she's swinging at the ball and is doing very well," said her father.

"The boys (on the team) go 'yay' when I hit the ball," noted Nancy, "but they don't say anything when I don't do so well."

League board members met to discuss the issue and decided to hang tough.

"We're not violating anybody's civil rights," said Mrs. Joan Long, a board member. "These parents are publicity seekers and trouble makers."

Her parents at first tried to ridicule the rule by pinning a toy teacup to Nancy's jersey. It worked for three games, then an opposing coach objected and the umpire threatened to have Nancy's team forfeit.

When she was benched for again not wearing the protective cup, "One girl cried," Nancy said, adding she did not.

About 15 girls play in the league. Only the Winnards have complained, said Christopher.

The complaint would likely be filed Monday in U.S. District Court in Detroit, Walsh said.

Dodger hitters silenced again

By GORDON VERRELL

Staff Writer

Mickey Vernon, the former American League batting champ, is the Dodgers' hitting instructor. He is squarely on the spot these days.

Everyone from Walter O'Malley to Walter Alston wants to know why the Dodgers aren't hitting, and Vernon is the man they ask.

"If I knew the answer," a perplexed Vernon said Friday after the latest non-production, a 5-1, two-bit loss to the Philadelphia Phillies, "I'd be the smartest guy alive."

The loss, the Dodgers' fourth in a row—their longest skid of the season—and sixth in the past seven games, dropped them 3½ games behind Cincinnati in the National League West.

The Dodgers have managed the grand sum of two runs in the last 31 innings.

"You can't win like that," said Danny Ozark, the Phillies' skipper and a former Dodger coach. "You gotta get runs to win games."

For a time, it appeared the run the Dodgers managed in the first inning might be enough since starter Andy Messersmith wheeled through the first six innings without permitting a hit.

But in the seventh the roof collapsed.

Three singles produced one Philly run and ended Messersmith's string of scoreless innings at 26. Before the inning was completed light-hitting Jerry Martin clubbed a grand slam home run.

That was more than enough support for Jim Lonborg, who allowed the Dodgers two doubles, both by Jimmy Wynn, who drove in the homeowners only run in the first inning.

"We're too good a club to keep this going much

Dodger of Day
JIM WYNN got Dodgers' only two hits, both doubles, in 5-1 loss to Phillies.

longer," said Wynn. "It's a long season, and any great team goes through one of these periods."

Maybe so, but this one is getting ridiculous.

After Lonborg walked Willie Crawford in the first inning he whipped through 19 batters before issuing walks in the eighth. In six innings the Dodgers went out in order.

In five games on this home stand, the Dodgers have scored 10 runs on 25 hits. The Reds accomplished more Friday, blasting Chicago, 18-11, on 24 hits.

"No, we're not score-board watching," snapped Alston.

Ozark hinted that perhaps the pitchers are feeling the pressure of the non-support.

"Messersmith pitched a great game," said Danny O., "but it's tough pitching in a 1-0 game like that. You have to make every pitch count. I think it takes a lot more out of a guy, mentally than physically, in a tough game like that."

Alston said Messersmith certainly pitched well enough to win, but had bad luck.

"They put their hits together, we didn't," said the manager.

Actually, the Dodgers didn't have any hits to put together, although it might be said they did bunch their one hit in the first inning. Wynn's double followed a walk and a stolen base by Dave Lopes.

Messersmith then whopped through the first 11 Phillies. He hit Mike Schmidt with a pitch after two were out in the fourth and then walked Greg Luzinski. He escaped that mild threat, with the aid of Schmidt, who was thrown out by Steve Yeager while trying to steal that.

In the process, Schmidt jammed his left shoulder and spent Friday night in the hospital.

Messersmith got the Phils in order in the fifth and six innings but John Oates led off the seventh with the first hit, a clean single through the middle, and scored on a single by Richie Allen.

Oates' single started a landslide of hits that didn't

Death mars Baja 400; Ellis victorious

ENSENADA, Mexico (AP) — Jim Ellis, 51, of Imperial Beach, and his 20-year-old teammate were the unofficial winners aboard a Honda motorcycle Friday in the Baja International Off-Road race which was marred by the death of a high school motorcycle racer.

Early in the race, Von Peterson, 17, of La Creceta, died from injuries suffered when his motorcycle crashed at high speeds, race officials said.

Authorities said the youth's bike went off the course about 100 miles from the start in a rolling, hilly, brush-covered high desert area west of Valle de Trinidad.

Collene Campbell, spokesperson for SCORE, which sanctions the race, said the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenyon F. Peterson, in Baja to watch the race, were informed of their son's death. They were quoted as saying, "He died doing what he loved best."

Ellis rode the final 150 miles after his partner Gary Standridge of Ramona, ran the first 250. They finished in 8 hours 12.34 minutes.

The first car to complete the race was about

60 seconds behind. Ivan

Stewart, 30, of El Cajon, coasted across the finish after the Volkswagen engine in his single-seat dune buggy quit less than three miles from the end of the 400-mile race.

Stewart's time was 8 hours 13.41 minutes but his finish was questioned because a spectator's car gave him a helpful nudge towards the finish line—the same spectator later smacked into him when Stewart put on the breaks to stop.

Larry Roesler, 18, of Bloomington, and Bruce Ogilvie, 22, of Riverside, teamed for third in 8 hours, 16 minutes on a 250cc Harley-Davidson.

Fourth was John Sundland, 32, of La Crescenta in a single-seat dune buggy in just under 8 hours, 29 minutes. The next finisher was 18-year-old Andy Kirker of Whittier.

er, who rode the entire distance alone on his motorcycle and finished in 8:29.

Then five cars and bikes finished within five minutes, including Bobby Ferro of Sherman Oaks, in a single-seat Sandmaster racer. He finished despite running out of fuel when a gas cap broke loose and after crashing into some trees.

Ferro, a pre-race favorite, also suffered a flat tire 70 miles from the end and finished on a shredded tire.

Mickey Thompson, another favorite driving an exotic new Chevy Luv pickup with a rear mounted V-8 engine, dropped out after the second check-point less than 100 miles from the start with mechanical trouble.

stop until Martin, a member of the Toledo Mud Hens until May 27, slugged his grand slam homer. Martin started the night with a .250 average, one home run and two RBI.

"Obviously," he understated, "this was the biggest homer of my career."

The two-hitter was the fifth against the Dodgers this season and the third loss in four tries against the Phillies.

Tonight the Dodgers will take a tip from their former teammate, Richie Allen.

Batting practice will be voluntary.

DODGER DOPE: The annual Hollywood Stars game takes place tonight at 6:30 with the Dodgers-Phillies game beginning at 8 p.m. But Hooton (4-5) starts with the Phillies' Larry Christensen (1-1). On Sunday, Doug Rau will try to snap his month-long slump in the series finale against Tom Underwood (0-5).

Willie Crawford entered Friday night's game with an eight-game hitting streak, matching his longest as a Dodger. Philadelphia shortstop Terry Harmon was a late scratch because of muscle spasms in his back. The Phils had won nine of 15 games since Harmon took over as the starting shortstop.

Dave Lopes' first-inning steal was his 21st. Bill Buckner was back in the starting lineup after resting his ailing left ankle several days.

Conquistadors to remain in San Diego

Combined News Services

Three years after he went shopping for an American Basketball Association franchise for his home town of San Diego, West Coast furniture dealer Frank Goldberg brought one home.

Friday the 13th proved to be Goldberg's lucky day, but the price tag was $2. For this price he will receive the present Conquistador players to stock his club.

BUD TUCKERA view from the Saskatoon balloon

Nobody came in on the noon balloon from Saskatoon and asked me, but...

Kicker David Ray, who has asked the Rams to trade him "to any team on the Rams' schedule so I can come back and beat them," may soon get his wish inasmuch as at least one NFL club is interested.

An interesting statistic would be the number of games the Angels have played this season without a protest.

The guy who said "what goes up must come down" never heard of the price of sports tickets.

If you think pressure can't sometimes get the job done, consider the reversal of the PGA's decision to eliminate the Tournament of Champions at La Costa.

One thing about Ron Lyle's alleged assault on his wife with a gun — he sure couldn't hurt her with his fists.

The hockey and basketball playoffs draw to a merciful conclusion and suddenly it's summer.

If greyhound racing gets legalized in California it will not be without a long and bitter dogfight.

For the Dodgers to draw three million clients this season would be an astounding turn of events, but you hesitate to bet against it.

THE ENTIRE WORLD Football League may not draw three million this fall ... at least, Joe Namath bet against it.

As to the discussions having to do with the toughest guy currently active in a major sport, a suggestion from here would be Jim Bertelsen of the Rams.

Jockey Rudy Campas was the father of twins the other day, so now there is the patter of six little feet around the house.

When the National Basketball Association's player draft unfolded, you were hit by the impact of the importance of the earlier coin flip wherein the Atlanta club defeated the Lakers.

The media has been groping for phrases to describe the manner in which the announcement that the renowned basketball trio — Greenwood, Hamilton and Holland — would enroll at UCLA was handled, but the word is "bush."

IF YOU THINK time doesn't slip away, consider that Los Alamitos Race Course is celebrating its 25th anniversary.

After years of dialogue and speculation on the survival of Southern California speedways, Riverside plugs along staying alive and in reasonably good health, while the glamour layout at Ontario goes down three times and comes up twice.

There is a topper for Billy Martin's line that the Angels could take batting practice in a hotel lobby and not break the chandelier, which is they could take batting practice in a greenhouse and not break a window.

Significant quote from one of the Southern California Sun bag holders: "Anthony Davis rides to his press conference in a $42,000 Rolls Royce, and last year's creditors walk to the unemployment office."

I, for one, would be curious as to whether an ABA franchise involving Jerry West and Wilt Chamberlain would be successful in the Los Angeles Sports Arena, but I prefer that the experiment be conducted with your money rather than mine.

They are calling Rams owner Carroll Rosenbloom the most impatient man in sports, but this is not altogether correct because he just ran flat out of patience.

Another suggestion for a fourth for bridge with Howard Cosell, Jack Kent Cooke and Charles O. Finley is Muhammad Ali.

Assembly 58-0 in favor of fem athletes

LP-T Sacramento Bureau

SACRAMENTO — Men and women should have opportunities "as nearly equal as possible" to participate in athletics on California State University and College campuses, the Assembly said Friday.

By a 58-0 vote, the house approved AB 1558 by Assemblyman Floyd Mori, D-Pleasanton, stating that the CSUC campuses

should also offer "comparable incentives and encouragements to engage in athletics" to females.

Funds now allocated for athletics would have to be

BARTKOWSKI OKS $600,000 OFFER

ATLANTA (AP) — Quarterback Steve Bartkowski, the all-American from the University of California, came to terms with the Atlanta Falcons Friday for an estimated $600,000 payable over four years.

Bartkowski, No. 1 choice of the National Football League in the 1975 college draft, will fly to Atlanta today to sign the contract, the Atlanta Journal reported.

The newspaper quoted Bartkowski's agent, Los Angeles attorney Leigh Steinberg, as saying: "We gave a little in the end and they gave a little."

Bartkowski reportedly had considered offers from the World Football League.

Bartkowski will compete with Kim McQuilken and Pat Sullivan for a starting quarterback job with the Falcons, who gave up offensive tackle George Kunz for the opportunity to select Bartkowski in the draft.

U.S. Open next weekNicklaus admits he's man to beat MEDINAH, Ill. (UPI) — Quietly and calmly, without boasting, Jack Nicklaus, who has won more major golf championships than any other man, indicated he was the man to beat in the impending 1975 U.S. Open.

"The only thing I can control is my own game," he said, "so I try to get my own game in shape. I know there's going to be somebody else there and who it is doesn't make any difference if I'm in shape."

Nicklaus planned four days of workouts on Medinah, playing a minimum of 54 holes and then concentrating on sand shots, rough shots, chips from the thick rough and a variety of other special shots.

"THAT'S WHERE I gear my game," he said. "It's long and it's tough. It's tight. The greens are difficult, very, very tough to chip to, and you're going to do some chipping because they're not all that large."

Nicklaus has not played at Medinah since 1962 when he finished tied for eighth in the Western Open with 286, two over par, in 1949, and that to me is one whale of a score around this golf course. I played two days and shot a 77 the first time.

"The second time it blew about 40 miles an hour, and I got around in about 75, and felt like I played a fairly decent round of golf. So obviously I've got to work some shots off of that and learn the course a little bit better. But I don't think you're going to find many guys tearing it up."

The whole golf course has provided problems.

Yank golfer gains British semifinals

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (UPI) — Nancy Roth Syms, bidding to swing a slam for the U.S. in amateur golf, defeated American champion Cynthia Hill, 1 up. Friday to reach the semifinals of the British women's championship.

Vinnie Giles of Richmond, W.Va., won the men's amateur title last week.

Syms, a 36-year-old Curtis Cup veteran from Colorado, took the lead at the 13th hole and Miss Hill, St. Petersburg, Fla., could never catch up.

Syms' opponent today in the semifinal is Canadian Dale Shaw, who beat South African Alison Sheard 3 and 2.

The other semifinal is between Scottish teenager Suzanne Cadden and 25-year-old Australian champion Sandy McCaw.

By a 58-0 vote, the house

approved AB 1558 by Assemblyman Floyd Mori, D-Pleasanton, stating that the CSUC campuses

should also offer "comparable incentives and encouragements to engage in athletics" to females.

Funds now allocated for

athletics would have to be reallocated so that

"reasonable amounts"

would be available for women's sports, Mori said.

There was no indication of the amount which would have to be withdrawn

from men's sports to upgrade women's athletics.

Rankin leads Medina

MEDINA, Ohio (AP) —

Judy Rankin, despite an irritating cold, carved out a two-under-par 70 in gusty winds Friday to grab the first-round lead in the $50,000 Medina Open golf tournament.

Her consistent round of three birdies and a lone bogey forged a one-shot lead over veterans Murle Breer and Carol Mann, and tall newcomer Dorothy Germain at the Weymouth Valley Country Club course.

Rankin, the winner of 14 tournaments in 13 Ladies Professional Golf Association seasons, has been hampered by a severe cold for two weeks.

Amy Alcott carded a 72 and was tied with Jo Ann Washam and former Long Beach resident Marlene Hagge. Marlene's older sister, Alice Bauer, returning to the tour, carded a 77.

Laura Baugh was three behind.

Evert cruises to Paris finals

PARIS (UPI) — Chris

Evert of the United States feels confident she can outlast Czechoslovakia's Martina Navratilova today to capture her second consecutive women's singles title at the $218,000 French Open tennis championship, but she has some doubts about the result if the two meet at Wimbledon.

"I haven't felt nervous for any match this year," Evert said. "I enjoy playing in Europe. I don't feel pressure here. In the states there's more pressure."

Evert is only worried about one thing in Europe and that is my "serve always seems to crack when I'm over here."

"In the states I'm too dependent on my dad," she said. "He helps me when my serve goes wrong and afterwards I always serve great."

Asked if she feels any push to keep up her unbroken string of victories in Europe dating from her loss to Billie Jean King in the 1973 Wimbledon final, Evert said, "I've never thought about that."

Women's Singles (semifinals):

Barbara Novak (U.S.), 6-2, 6-3; Chris Evert (U.S.), 6-2, 6-4; Olga Morozova (U.S.S.R.), 6-4, 6-0, Friday in a semifinal match. But

Evert added, in reference to Wimbledon, "On grass it may be a different story."

She said of the 18-year-old Navratilova, who is her doubles partner, "I can stay out there longer

King birthday school holiday voted

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate voted Friday to require public schools to observe Martin Luther King's birthday after several lawmakers angrily rejected arguments that King had associated with Communists.

"Martin Luther King was not a Communist," Sen. David Roberti said of the slain civil rights leader. "He was a small d' emocrat — an American in the truest sense of the word."

Under the Senate-approved bill, schools would have to stage civil rights-related activities each Jan. 15 to commemorate King's birthday.

Roberti, a Los Angeles Democrat, and several other senators rose to speak in protest after Sen. H.L. Richardson said King was too controversial to be honored by schools.

"I firmly believe that he was not what he was presented to be," Richardson said. "I don't think he was a man of nonviolence."

"He talked it, but in fact what he did created a certain level of violence."

Richardson contended that the NAACP had once criticized King and that King had associated with Communists and had received financial support from them.

"I have copies of the checks received by him," the Arcadia Republican said. "I think Mr. King associated very dramatically with these people."

Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, argued that Richardson's statement was "immaterial to what's before us."

"Martin Luther King was a symbol of the hope and aspirations of Americans to make sure that the promises of this country mean something," he said.

"I hope that children each year will have an opportunity to pay respect to this great American."

"Is there anyone who doubts that he did make a contribution in the civil rights movement?" Sen. Ralph Dills, D-Gardena, asked.

"Sure there was violence, but it was not of his doing."

Sen. Nicholas Petris, D-Oakland, said King "really freed all of us. He forced us to look in the mirror — to see that there were just too many things in the field of civil rights that were wrong."

The Senate then approved a bill by Sen. Nate Holden, D-Culver City, requiring schools to observe King's birthday with "suitable exercises" commemorating the history of the civil rights movement and King's role in it.

A 22-2 vote sent the measure to the Assembly. Sen. John Stull, R-Leucadia, joined Richardson in voting no.

TeleVues2 new game shows to debut Monday

By BOB MARTIN
TV-Radio Editor

If game shows are your cup of TV — and if you're free to watch the tube in daytime hours — you'll be interested to know that two new ones will be starting Monday on Channel 2.

Making their bow as weekday CBS series will be "Spin-Off," from 9 to 9:30 a.m., and "Musical Chairs," from 3 to 3:30 p.m. Both will air Mondays through Fridays.

Another CBS game series, "Tattletales," starring Bert Convy, will move to a new time period, starting Monday — from the 3 p.m. slot to 10 a.m.

Dropping out of the network's lineup will be the game shows "The Joker's Wild," which had been airing from 9 to 9:30 a.m., and "Now You See It," which had been occupying the 10-to-10:30 a.m. period.

With "Musical Chairs," television gets its first black host of a game series, singer-actor Adam Wade. The series is different from other game shows in that it will be a musical-variety show within a game format. There will be singing guest stars each week, with Kelly Garrett, Ernestine Jackson and the Tokens leading off.

"Musical Chairs" is a Jerome Schur-Don Kirshner production, from New York.

"Spin-Off," which will pit two married couples against each other in a sort of automated poker game, has as its host Jim Lange, who formerly hosted "The Dating Game." The series is a Nick Nicholson-E. Roger Muir production from Hollywood.

THE 19-HOUR "Cerebral Palsy Telethon," which starts at 11 tonight and continues until 6 p.m. Sunday on Channel 11, will originate from the KTTV studios in Hollywood and from Caesars Palace in Las Vegas.

Dennis James is the master of ceremonies and Carol Lawrence is talent hostess. Joining them will be cohosts Jack Barry and Connery Van Dyke, and many big-name performers will take part.

"ZOOS OF THE World," a 60-minute National Geographic special, airs at 9 tonight on Channel 11.

Joseph Campanella is narrator for the look at zoos in Tokyo, New Delhi, London, New York, Tucson, Tanzania, Barcelona, Antwerp, East Berlin and Frankfurt.

CHANNEL 5 offers a half-hour country music special, "Pop! Goes the Proposed budget up $5.4 million

By DON BRACKENBURY
Staff Writer

The proposed 1975-76 budget for the City of Long Beach calls for expenditures of $218,884,058, an increase of $5.4 million over the current fiscal year, but a cut in the property-tax rate.

Economies in operations and a 6.3 per cent increase in assessed valuation of property in the city make it possible to finance the budget with a tax rate of $2.0958 per $100 of assessed valuation, a decrease of slightly more than one cent, said City Manager John R. Mansell.

Faced with the present tight economic situation, Mansell said, his staff cut $4.5 million from department requests for additional or extended services.

The recommended budget will, however, "provide for the continuation of the major services of the city at a performance level equal to, or better than, that which we maintained in 1974-75," the city manager said.

THE BUDGET includes $96,784,043 for tax-supported funds, an increase of $8.6 million, and $120,100,015 for various other funds and for operating requirements of the Harbor, Gas and Water departments.

In his message to the City Council, Mansell said the budget:

—Poses no new spending programs which are not offset by operating revenues or grant funds.

—Proposes a decrease in the property-tax rate.

—Proposes only one new revenue source, based on return to the city for benefits received, and the adjustment of two fee schedules.

The new revenue source recommended by Mansell is a real property transfer tax of .55 per cent of the full market value of real property sales in the city. He said it would bring in an estimated $400,000 in fiscal 1975-76, which would be allocated by ordinance exclusively for redevelopment and community improvement programs.

For many years, the city manager said, Long Beach has allocated an average of $1.7 million annually from tax-supported funds for capital improvements such as beautification projects, parks, recreation, police and fire facilities, and street and sewer projects.

"The willingness of the city to appropriate these funds has, in our opinion, contributed immeasurably to the creation of a community atmosphere that can compete with consumer preferences for newer communities outside Long Beach," Mansell said.

UNDER existing economic conditions, however, the city cannot continue to support this level of expenditures from the general revenues, he said, and the proposed real property transfer tax would offset a portion of the expense.

The proposed revisions of fee schedules are:

—A change from the existing business license fees, which are based primarily on a flat rate plus a charge per employee, to a schedule based on gross receipts.

—An increase in the oil production license tax from five to 10 cents per barrel.

The present business license fee schedule was last revised in 1962, Mansell said. From 1963 through the 1974-75 fiscal year, taxable transactions of Long Beach businesses jumped 100 per cent, from $539.7 million to more than $1 billion.

During the same period, city revenue from business and professional licenses increased from $746,497 to $775,000, less than four per cent, he said.

The budget proposes a base rate of $30 for the first $25,000 of gross receipts, plus the following additional rates: 50 cents per $1,000 gross receipts over $25,000 for retail and service businesses; 40 cents per $1,000 for wholesale businesses, and 80 cents per $1,000 for professional businesses.

A SPECIALIZED flat-fee category would be established for specialized businesses such as Christmas tree lots, auctioneers, itinerant vendors and motion picture studios, Mansell said.

The proposed increase in the oil production license tax is a renewal of a recommendation made some months ago to the City Council but shelved. Many citizens who receive royalty payments objected to the increase at that time.

Mansell said an analysis by his office revealed that an individual who received a monthly royalty check of $100 in October, 1973, paid $1.20 in oil production taxes. In March, 1974, as a result of a 31 per cent jump in the price of oil, the same individual would be getting about $131 a month in royalties, but still would pay only $1.20 in tax.

If the tax had been increased from five to 10 cents per barrel, Mansell said, the tax would have increased to $2.40 a month.

"Since the income received from oil royalties in this example has increased by more than $30 for each $100 received, it is our opinion that an increase of $1.20 in taxes is not an undue financial burden," he said.

Another repeat recommendation is that the City Council approve relocation of eight fire stations over the next two years to meet fire-protection needs in recently developed areas, particularly in the southeast portion, where Marina Pacifica and the Bixby Ranch projects have been built.

IF THE COUNCIL does not approve the relocation, the budget message said, it will be necessary to build and staff two new stations, one in the west and one in the southeast. The present budget also would have to be raised $334,000, it said.

Over the next five years, it will cost $5.83 million to relocate the stations, but it would cost $7.45 to build and fund two new ones. Annual operating costs for two new stations would be $1,173,774, it said.

On another matter involving the Fire Department, Mansell said the budget provides for an expansion in the paramedic program to include emergency ambulance service, now provided under private contract. Some years ago, the Fire Department did operate emergency ambulance service in the city.

Although resuming Fire Department emergency ambulance service would require additional staff and equipment, it can be done at no additional cost to that now faced by the city in contracts with private operators, Mansell said.

The City Council has scheduled hearings on the proposed budget, starting Wednesday at 9 a.m. in the City Hall council chamber.

Additions top cuts in budget as county puts back health services

From Our L.A. Bureau

Supervisors, after four days of budget deliberations, Friday ended up adding more than they cut from the proposed $3 billion spending package for 1975-76.

Supervisors had trimmed $1.2 million from various departments, but by the end of the day had restored programs recommended for elimination by chief Administrative Officer Harry Hufford.

The bulk of the restorations was in health services, where supervisors added an extra $2.1

million in services that had been cut by Hufford.

The net effect as of the weekend was an addition of $1.1 million to the budget — representing a tax-rate increase of about one-half cent.

The preliminary budget proposed by Hufford already had called for a tax rate hike of more than 40 cents.

Part of the increase in health services was caused by the infusion of county funds for mental health programs which are threatened with cutbacks because of a lack of state funds.

Supervisors Thursday agreed to set aside $7 million in county funds to avert cutbacks. But after learning from some legislators in Sacramento there was a chance Short-Doyle Act funds might be voted, supervisors agreed to make a bookkeeping change in the budget.

Instead of assigning $7 million in county funds for the mental health programs, supervisors additionally included in the budget an amount of $6.3 million in expected state revenue to offset the county expense.

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn said he will introduce a motion Monday to cut more than $20 million in various capital projects.

It also is possible they might discuss the use of revenue-sharing money Monday to fund programs of various community groups and the proposed subsidy to the Southern California Rapid Transit District for flat 25-cent bus fares.

The teachers want a 10 per cent pay hike and the board has offered 8.3.

The teachers went on strike June 6, then returned to their classrooms Wednesday for one day in hope the board would agree to their request for a mediator. During a negotiating session Wednesday morning, however, they agreed to continue on the job for the two remaining days of the school year despite the fact they did not get the mediator.

NAACP sets public meet

The Long Beach branch of the NAACP will hold a meeting, open to the public, at 3 p.m. Sunday in the MacArthur Park clubhouse, 1325 E. Anaheim St.

Featured speaker will be Herb Nalibow, director of senior citizens' affairs for the city of Long Beach, Long Beach NAACP President Eddie Bernard said.

They didn't get the district school board to agree to the appointment of a mediator, but they did get a promise that if another impasse in negotiations between the board and the Fountain Valley Teachers Association occurs, disputed items will be referred to a three-member fact-finding committee.

YOUR HOROSCOPE by JEANE DIXON

Forecast for Sunday

Your birthday today: Finds you casting about for more effective means of expressing yourself and your talents. Late in the year, these lines of effort converge so that you attain higher efficiency and earning capabilities — a bonus for your earlier patience and persistence. Relationships fall apart if you don't care enough to work at them. Today's natives tend to be jealous, are usually quick-witted and often famous for their dancing.

Aries (March 21-April 19): In your rush to get a prosperous week underway, don't act too independently. Resist the temptation for over-optimistic buying. Any social disagreement becomes a showdown.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Money moves abruptly. It's easy to say a few words too many. Supposedly secret deals are bound to pop wide open when least expected. Be aboveboard; take first things first.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): This is one day when you must balance your attention and commitments between various relatives and dependents and your career. Above all, be thrifty.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Various influences are at work but their sources are not yet identified. Don't add personal money to business ventures until a definite return is arranged.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Assume that nobody will bark you when the going is rough. Work from your own resources and take all the proceeds. Your pride could cost you money. Avoid legal entanglements.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Resolve to make your sense of humor last through the day. You can relax a bit in the evening before picking up the pieces. Rearrange your schedule to go on in better style tomorrow.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Leave key issues undecided. Appeals from both sides. There's something yet to learn that will tip the scales. Pursue closer emotional ties.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Your friends and their misguided advice cause you to spend money and take on more than you can easily handle. Take time out to declare your feelings for those you love.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Don't let material enterprises get you down. Depend mainly on your own reserves and energy when the going is heavy. Sentimental matters first.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Outside stimulus has greater impact on what you do than you think. Ask questions and accept answers you may not welcome. Strive for fresh ideas.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): An impulsive reaction to the unfamiliar involves you in a series of odd moments. Be a bit wary and don't rush. Minor details skipped now create major inconveniences later.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): No one shares the same views today. You've got an adventure in personal diplomacy coming up. If it works out, you gain emotional satisfaction.

GARDENING

JOE LITTLEFIELD
Korean lawn grass (zoysia) is available in two varieties. The first one Z. japonica forms small irregular mounds as well as level areas of narrow fine-blade grass. It has been used on steep slopes, banks and level ground.

The other variety, Z. tenuifolia, grows low and flat forming a smooth lawn. Both varieties are available in flats to be planted out in squares, spaced a distance apart. They grow slowly covering the soil.

Both zoysias form such a tight mat we doubt that even poa annua the winter annual blue grass can grow in it.

We've always thought that spurge, an annual summer weed considered the curse of dichondra lawns, was the worst summer weed in lawns, whether dichondra or blade.

Now we notice that poa annua is another vicious weed to contend with during the summer. We noticed also in mid-May that more new ones are growing in the lawn! It is a fine-blade lawn with small attractive looking tassel-like spikes of weed seeds. The adolescent weeds are innocent looking, but soon develop into mounding weed clumps with roots that cling to the soil tenaciously as the gardener tries to pull them up.

By the time he realizes what a destructive weed pest it is, the seeds scatter and lie dormant in the lawn until late summer when it begins to sprout and slowly grow on into the winter.

It looks like the weed seeds don't wait until fall

ZOYSIA... Korean lawn grass to start growing, but begin to sprout and grow almost immediately! We've even discovered new ones growing in our dichondra lawn latter part of May.

GARDENERS should use a pre-emerge herbicide now to kill the weed seeds so they won't sprout before fall. There is a specific herbicide gardener can use in dichondra lawn, but not in a blade-grass lawn. Fortunately there is a pre-emerge (before weed seeds sprout) herbicide for blade lawns, which may be used on dichondra lawn. It is available in a turf fertilizer. It is impregnated with the fertilizers elements.

As the fertilizer in the lawn gradually dissolves, the pre-emerge herbicide slowly releases attacking the poa annua weed seeds, also any present crab grass weed seeds. Unfortunately the herbicide in the fertilizer is not available by itself, excepting in with the fertilizer.

The low-spraying spotted spurge with blue-gray small oval-shaped leaves (whose runner branches bleed a white silvery substance) are merrily growing in many lawns, both dichondra and blade-grass lawns.

A NEIGHBOR noticed it growing in his dichondra lawn May 22. So far as we know there isn't a specific broad-leaf weed herbicide that will kill spurge without harming dichondra, because to such a herbicide, dichondra is a broad leaf weed. It'll kill it.

However, it may not be too late to use a pre-emerge herbicide on di-chondra to kill the still not sprouted spurge weed seeds. There is a herbicide available that attacks the spurge growing in dichondra. Check with your nurseryman about it. The only other method of attack is to hand weed the spurge in lawns or flower beds. Soil must be moistened well in order to more easily pull up the weeds. Gardener can root them out by lifting up a runner branch or two without breaking them off to trace them to the central root area, then pull them out.

CLUB NOTES

The North Long Beach Branch of the National Fuchsia Society will open its regular monthly meeting Monday with a pot luck dinner at 6:30 p.m., at the American Legion Post, on Orange Avenue and 59th Street. Cliff Ebeling will speak on fuchsias. There will be a plant table and visitors welcome.
